Dr. Robertson BABSON DISCUSSES EISENHOWER AND

(Exclusive NEWS Feature)

There was one social phenomenon during the days of the recent political campaigning that made an impact upon millions of people. It was that the attitude of many of our intelligentsia was extremely hostile toward business and Republicanism. It was more openly and frankly unfriendly than in any of the other campaign struggles of the past fifty years-in fact, since Bryan's day in the 1890's.

BUSINESS

Why a Hostile Attitude? It has been a parlor pastime of many "educated" men and women to castigate business and to decry its social service. Many believe that business does not give a rap about people as individuals and that business has contributed little or nothing to human welfare in our social order. Readers can trust me that such criticism is unjust. I can point to all kinds of research institutions that business has founded and endowed. These operate solely for the purpose of developing better conditions, products and usefulness. But business, like any other human institution, is not perfect. In the roaring 20's it unfortunately produced opportunists who did exploit the many at the expense of the few. There is, therefore, a shred of truth in the generalization that business has been hostile to the individual and sometimes irresponsible. On the other hand, there has been a far greater advance in business management than in the political management which has tried to regulate it.

As many of us realize, people who are looking for more than material satisfaction from our culture have often felt left out. They just haven't "belonged." They had no "status", and people who lack status in any society struggle for something that will give them just that. This is the basic reason for most of the labor troubles of today.

What Business Has Learned

Change was abruptly forced on business in the 30's. Perhaps the most important change in the attitude of business management was the realization that there is more to living than just making a living. The marriage of business to the physical sciences, which brought America to the pinnacle of technological achievement, must now be matched by a similarly happy marriage of business to the social sciences. The trouble is that business was wed to the social sciences rather reluctantly in the 30's. It was a shotgun wedding, not a union of love!

One of the basic problems of the Eisenhower administration is to make this marriage work, for if it doesn't work the Republicans will lose the election in 1956. Neither business nor the Republican Party won the recent election. It was a personal victory for a great man, a revolt against corruption in high places, with a hope he could stop the Korean slaughter and prevent World

MANY NEEDED FACILITIES INCLUDED IN PROPOSAL

The seven-man Town Hall Building Committee, of which E. Stanley Beck is chairman, submitted to the Board of Selectmen on Monday night of this week its plans for a much-needed addition to Robbins Memorial Town Hall. Town officials, it is understood, are favorably inclined toward the suggestions of the committee, and architects are now busy computing what the final cost of such an addition

Said Chairman Beck, "The appropriation sought for a Town Hall-addition last year was $95,000. The committee has worked diligently during the past months to prepare plans which would meet the need of Town Hall offices and yet be less heavy on the taxpayers. I believe we have succeeded and that the plans submitted will need considerably less than the $95,000 previously asked for. I am sure this will please everyone concerned."

OUTLOOK FOR A SUCCESSFUL TERM

The Eisenhower Administration, all the signposts say, will be based on two patterns-that of the military and that of business. The military phase is found in the staff system which the President-elect has begun to establish as a functioning organism. He will be receptive to advice and discussion. Then, once > a decision is reached, he will expect it to be carried out without dissent and with all good will on the lieutenants conthe part of the lieutenants concerned. It is extremely unlikely Christ Lutheran Church-Sunday rank, will issue conflicting statecies-something that has happened day. for each dollar spent—whether it be in national defense, foreign aid, Proceeds for entertainment in veteor anything else. His appointments reflect that attitude. Most of the men chosen have had to deal with budgets, payrolls and ever-mounting taxes. They have had to make their way in the intensely competitive world of industry. Eisemower has shown no liking for theorists and academicians—the kind who pulled so much weight under Roosevelt. And he has shown none for the so-called "practical politicians" who have held the center of the stage under Truman.

It has been observed that Governor Dewey has been a potent force in shaping up the form and the face of the next Administration. Various reasons account for this. One is the extraordinarily effective job done by Dewey and his assistants in swinging the Republican con- Women's Republican Club vention to Eisenhower. Another reason is that Dewey as Governor of New York has established one of the most business-like regimes in the history of politics. Political considerations are not forgotten-no one goes far or lasts long in national life who forgets those important matters. But the Dewey emphasis has been on honest, efficient and impersonal administration of New York's great affairs. This, it is clear, is what General Eisenhower intends to apply on the national scale.

Much has been made over the rift between Eisenhower and Taft because of the appointment of Durkin as Secretary of Labor. Some say that Taft lost his temper-he is a sensitive man and often quick to anger. Others say that Eisenhower unwittingly violated political protocol because of inexperience. Still others say that this was a planned move, to show Taft who is boss. However, the idea that the Eisenhower-Taft honeymoon is over and warfare has begun is not given credence in informed quarters. The men hold very similar views on most issues. It is expected that they will work very closely together and that the relationship will generally be amicable.

The Eisenhower cabinet has come in for a great deal of editorial praise and comparatively little criticism. One observation is that it may be lacking in men with wide experience in government-only one member, McKay of Oregen, has held high elective office, and that was on the state and not the national level. A virtue in this is that the cabinet men come to their jobs without the usual political commitments

The mettle of the men who will run the government of the United States for the next four years-with normal turnover of staff members -will be tested for all to observe soon after they take office on the 20th. Arlington, the nation, and all the world will watch them attentively and hopefully.

growing urbanization, automobiles, radios and TV's, broken families,, congested roads, millions of accidents, economic fears of layoffs, unstable business profits, personal conflicts, tensions, and destructive attitudes. Perhaps the most destructive of all influences of our industrial civilization is present-day materialism and lack of religious sincerity. Unless man knows his place in an overall scheme of life, he is not competent to control his own destiny, for he has no idea where he's headed! For this the social scientists, advertising writers, and businessmen must share responsibility.

The scientific approach, which stresses seeking all available evidence, is needed in business. The philosophy which has carried us so far technologically must now emphasize the dignity of the individual and the "meaningfulness" of life. The Republican party has a great challenge to develop the kind of philosophy and course of action that will carry us to better human relations. I believe General Eisenhower is the man who can do this-if we all get

Alec Guiness Comedy Soon In Winchester

"The Promoter," the wonderful hit starring Alec Guinness, Glynis Johns, Valerie Hobson and Potula Clark, will have its Winchester premiere on January 21st at the Winchester Theatre, remaining there for four days. One of the few remaining constants in this ever-changing world is the assurance that Alec Guinness will be funnier in his next picture than he was in his last, and "The Promoter," set in the Britain of 70 years ago, presents Guinness in the title role as a sly, lovable schemer who works his way from an impoverished laundress' son to success and romantic achievements. Based on Arnold Bennett's famous novel "The Card," "The Promoter" comes off with high hilarity. It is the story of Edward Henry Machin, who, as a youth, learned that while honesty is the best policy, an assist to the fates paid big dividends. Thus he found that by altering his school grades just a trifle he could win a scholarship; and as a rent collector he discovered that by helping the tenants meet their monthly debts (for a fee) he developed a reputation that won him additional accounts.

Machin's entire career, as played by Guinness, is that of a lovable rogue who wins the audience's loyalty, affection and applause. Irene Dunne in a new delightful comedy hit "It Grows On Trees" completes the bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Boucher of Gray St. and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Weiss of Jason St. left yesterday by plane for a few weeks' vaca-tion in the Virgin Islands, Following a wonderful time there they will return by plane.

Your Income Taxes

James R. Canavan, C.P.A.

This is the second in a series of eight articles on Federal and State Income Taxes, distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Asso-February 25 in Junior Library ciation of Cost Accountants. Where can I get the answer to question on Federal taxes?

If you have an unusual tax problem, you should go to the local office of the Director of Internal Revenue or to a competent tax

Is the pension I receive from my former employer considered taxable income? Your pension is considered taxable income unless you contributed a certain amount to the pension plan through payroll withholdings. An illustration will help to clarify the latter situation: Assume that an individual retired on December 31, 1951;

and that during his period of employment he contributed through payroll withholdings a total of $4,000 toward a pension plan. The $4,000 represents his investment in the pension plan. Assume further that the individual received $100 a month during 1952 from his pension.

Of the $1,200 received in 1952 he will have to report $120 (3% of $4,000); the remainder, $1,080, is considered a return on his investment. The taxpayer will continue to report the $120 each year until he recovers his $4,000 investment. Thereafter, he will report $1,200 a year as taxable income. Are contest awards and prizes considered taxable income? Generally speaking, yes. The payment received is usually deemed to be consideration for services rendered by the contestant to the company making the award. In some instances however, the amount received may be considered a gift rather than income for services rendered. A gift is not taxable income. Are the dividends on my insurance policies considered taxable income

No. The dividends are simply an adjustment of the cost of your insurance Must I report the interest on my Savings Bonds? The interest you have collected on your Savings Bonds/is taxable unless the bonds were purchased before March 1, 1941. If the bonds were purchased before March 1, 1941, the interest received on $5,000 is wholly exempt each year. If the bonds are held jointly by you and your wife, you may exclude the interest on $10,000. The exemption of the interest on $5,000 or $10,000 is based on the purchase price and not on the maturity value of the bonds. Must I report the income of my children on your return.

In 1952, I sold my residence for a profit. How should I report the sale on my Federal tax return? It depends on whether or not you replaced the old residence with another residence. The replacement must be made within one year before or after the sale of the old

Example: A residence pur-chased in 1938 for $8,000 is sold in 1952 for $14,000. If the replacement cost is $12,500, the amount taxable as a gain is the unexpended proceeds, $1,500. If the cost of the new residence is $16,000, there would be no taxable gain because there is no unexpended proceeds, When there is no replacement, the gain on the sale of your residence is taxable. However, a loss on the sale of residential property is not deductible because the purchase of a residence is not considered a transaction entered into for profit. If you own the property for six months or less 100% of the profit is taxable; if you own the property for more than six months, only 50% of the profit is taxable.
